Jehovah's Witnesses convention closes in Calgary

The "Awake Ministers" district Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses came to a close Sunday afternoon at the Stampede Corral in Calgary, Alberta, after four days of religious training.

More than 5,000 Witnesses from eight provinces and nine States, including Alaska heard Canadian and United States leaders of the organization deliver a series of talks on Christian conduct and Ministerial activity.

Speakers stressed the convention theme "Awake Ministers", pointing out that each member is a Minister and must, therefore, accept his responsibilities of "publicly declaring one's faith."

This includes such activity as house-to-house calling and street advertising.

Featured convention speaker, Fred McLean, vice-president of the Society's world headquarters at Brooklyn, New York, spoke Thursday on "The Power of Kindness." He stressed that kindness is a great boon to man, "even though often to exercise kindness we have to endure many things."

He also mentioned courtesies, such as tipping the hat to ladies and saluting the flag. Mr. Franz emphasized that it is not the mere outward act that counts "for we can be courteous to ladies without tipping the hat, and loyal to our country without saluting the flag."

A "Ministry School" was conducted Thursday night as a model for Jehovah's Witnesses to use in their home congregations. Included in the school were student sermons and readings from the Bible to demonstrate the most effective ways of speaking and reading.

The problem of delinquency was discussed by Marcel Pileau of Montreal on Friday.

He spoke on "Parents, Do You Train Your Children?" We read the Bible and its principles contain the solution to this problem he said.

"The first step," Pileau added, "is for the parents to acquire a knowledge of the Bible, which they may in turn impart to their children."

Another talk "The Importance of Being a Teacher" by Percy Chapman, urged that "if you believe in your faith, talk about it freely, and the more you talk the more you will know. Don't be afraid of expressing yourself."

Saturday morning, G. P. Kvist of Edmonton, Alberta, spoke to 96 candidates just prior to the baptism on "Why Be Baptized?" He said: "Baptism is only an outward symbol of a personal decision that one had previously made to unreservedly do the will of Jehovah God."

Pointing out that Jesus made a personal dedication, Mr. Kvist added: "If the decision was important to Jesus, it is doubly important for those today who want to be His followers."

Saturday afternoon rounds of applause reflected the joy of the conventioners as F. W. Franz made public a 320-page cloth bound volume entitled "Jehovah's Witnesses in the Divine Purpose."

Prepared by the editorial staff of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, the formal name of the organization known as Jehovah's Witnesses, the book is an authentic, fully documented account of the history of Jehovah's Witnesses in modern times.

The organization has experienced its most rapid growth since World War II despite intense opposition and persecution. Approximately 70,000 members joined the organization during the past year, bringing the world-wide total of active preaching ministers to over 860,000.

The convention's climax was reached Sunday afternoon when F. W. Franz spoke to the public on "When God Speaks Peace to All Nations."

St. Alban's W. A. Hold Regular Meeting

The St. Alban's Women's Auxiliary held their first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. C. Clarke on Tuesday evening, September 8th.

Saturday, October 17th, was the date set for a Rummage Sale and Saturday, December 5th the Fall Tea and Bazaar.

At the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs. J. Glendenning Passes Sept. 3

Catharine Caroline (Cora) Glendenning, wife of Mr. J. Glendenning, passed away in the Crows Nest Pass Hospital on Thursday, September 3rd, following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Glendenning, 76 years of age was born in Brownie County, Durham, England, on January 9th, 1883. She came to Canada in June, 1912, and after arriving in Coleman was married to James Glendenning in the Bellevue United Church by the Rev. W. H. U'rain on June 13.

She was a member of the Pythian Sisters of Coleman, and having gone through all the offices was a former Past Grand Chief and also a Grand Representative to the Supreme Temple, and was a member of the former Orange Lodge and took an active part in St. Paul's United Church affairs, and was a member of the WMS and a former Sunday School teacher.

Mrs. Glendenning was highly respected in the community and will be sadly missed by her many friends and neighbors.

She was predeceased by a son, Robert in Coleman in May, 1938.

Surviving are her husband, James of Coleman; one brother, Mathias Armstrong in Shields, England, and one sister, Mrs. Ada Audin of Durham, England.

Funeral services were held in St. Paul's United Church on Saturday, September 5th, with the Rev. Rod MacAulay officiating.

Coleman Pythian Sisters held service for the late Mrs. Cora Glendenning in the funeral parlors on Friday evening, September 11.

Interment was in the Coleman Union Cemetery in the family plot.

Halls' Funeral Services of Blairmore in charge of arrangements.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the many friends and neighbors for their great kindness to me during my bereavement. Also my thanks to Dr. Aiello and Dr. Stephens, the Matron and the staff of the Crows Nest Pass Hospital for their kindness to my wife during her last illness.

Also my sincere thanks to Rev. R. A. MacAulay

J. GLENDENNING.

Pass Old-Timer Passes August 31

Mrs. Maria Philomena Tesolin passed away suddenly at Grand Forks, B. C. on August 31st.

Mrs. Tesolin 70 years of age was a resident of Trail, B. C. for the past seven years and had previously lived in Hillcrest since 1914 where her first husband Mr. Huesdens was killed in the 1914 Mine explosion. In 1918 she remarried the Late Louis Tesolin who passed away in 1952.

She lived in Blairmore for a number of years before going to British Columbia. She was a member of the Catholic Women's League. She is survived by two sons Peter Huesdens of Hillcrest and Louie Huesdens of Kamloops B. C. and by two daughters Annie Bercland of Castlegar, B. C. and Irene Santano of Trail, B. C. and six grandchildren.

Prayers were said at Trail, B. C. on Tuesday evening and requiem Mass was celebrated in Trail on Wednesday morning after which remains were forwarded to Blairmore for graveside services and interment in St. Anne's Catholic Cemetery on Thursday morning at 10:30 a.m. Reverend Dean Tessles of Blairmore officiated. Halls funeral services were in charge of arrangements.

Warn Against Fly-By-Night Roofers

Unscrupulous travelling gangs of roof repairmen are soliciting work in the province, reports the Edmonton Better Business Bureau.

The BBB reports that the workmen first obtain an order to repair an asphalt roof, offering guarantees of seven to ten years. Then they spray the roof with a combination of road oil and aluminum powder.

The job may look good when freshly done, but often the oil will damage the asphalt material in the original roof. When dry the aluminum powder often will blow away.

Never deal with unknown roofers, is the warning from the Edmonton bureau.

"Select a reputable firm with a name for satisfactory work and obtain a competitive price. Ask the names of satisfied customers and check."

Nomination Day Wed., Sept. 23rd

T. A. Collister, returning officer for the Town of Coleman has announced that Nominations Day will be held Wed., Sept. 23rd and if necessary elections will be held three weeks later on Wed. Oct. 14.

There will be two vacancies on council as terms of Angelo Toppiano and Bert Boud expire and there will also be two vacancies on the school board with the terms of John Owen and John Salus expiring. There will be a vacancy on the hospital board as the term of Stewart Murdoch the Coleman member expires.

Alberta Big Game Regulations

The 1959 big game regulations feature earlier opening dates and season extensions in some areas of the province. Bag limits, license fees and the 20 zone boundaries remain unchanged.

The sheep and goat season in zones 1 to 7 inclusive will open September 1 and close October 17. This is a two week extension. The same dates apply in zones 9, 10, 12, 13, 14 and 15.

The male deer season is open from September 21 to December 12 in zones 1, 2, 4, 5, 7 and 9; from November 2 to December 12 in zones 3 and 6; from November 2 to November 28 in zones 11, 19 and 20; from October 19 to December 12 in zones 10 and 12; and from October 19 to November 28 in zones 13 to 18 inclusive.

A special area has again been set aside for bow and arrow hunters. Their open season on male deer, male moose and elk of both sexes extends from September 1 to December 12 in zone 8 only.

The antlerless deer season extends from November 2 to 14 in zone 1; November 14 only in zone 2 and 3; November 11 to 14 in zones 4 and 6; November 2 to 7 in zones 12 and 13; and from November 25 to 28 in zones 14 to 17 inclusive.

Season for male moose is open October 19 to November 28 in zones 12, 13, 15, 17 and 18. November 11 to 14 in zones 4, 5 and 6; November 14 only in zones 1, 2 and 3; November 2 to 28 in zones 9, 11 and 20; November 2 to December 12 in zone 10; and November 25 to 28 in zones 14 and 15.

An antlerless moose season extends from November 25 to 28 in zones 12, 13, 15 and 17.

Male elk season dates are the same in zones 1 to 15 as the male deer dates. One exception is zone 1 where opening date is September 21 and closing date is March 31.

The antlerless elk season dates are: September 21 to March 31, zone 1; November 11 to 14 in zones 2, 3 and 6; November 2 to 14 in zone 4; November 2 to December 12 in zones 9, 10 and 12; and November 25 to 28 in zones 13 and 14.

The bear season will be open September 1 to December 12 in all areas except zone 17 (Swan Hills region). The spring season will open April 1 and close May 31 in zones 1 to 12, 18 and 20. A month long spring season is open April 1 to 30 in zones 9 to 11.

Former Coleman Old-timers Return To Reside Here

Old and new friends are pleased to hear that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnston have returned to Coleman to retire, and will reside with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Purvis.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were among the earliest residents of Coleman. Mr. Johnston came in 1904 and his wife followed in 1906 from England. He was employed at the International Mine and was first secretary of the Hospital Board, and was the first secretary of the Coleman Local U.M.W.A.

In 1918 he purchased and operated a general store and pool hall. In 1920 he was elected Mayor of Coleman. In 1925 they sold their business and home and moved to Vancouver where they have resided until the present time.

Dreaming is all right as long as you keep wide awake doing it.

Jackie Krish Wins C.N.P. - A.A.R.N. Scholarship

The regular meeting of the Crows Nest Chapter of the A.A.R.N. was held in the Crows Nest Municipal Hospital on September 3rd when the nurses studied some 14 applications for the Pass high school girls who had made application for the nurses scholarship.

The $50 scholarship, sponsored by the nurses for the girl in the Crows Nest Pass school who attains the highest marks in grade 12, and who is to make nursing her career, will be awarded to Miss Jackie Krish of Coleman.

Jackie has enrolled in the General Hospital Nursing School at Calgary. Presentation of the award will be made to Miss Krish at an occasion to be held in the Coleman school later this month when a number of other awards will be presented by various organizations.

After the business portion of the meeting was over the nurses enjoyed an evening of cards and a Chinese supper. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Pantin on October 8th.

Sharon Kilgannon Wins Auxiliary Award

The first full meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Crows Nest Pass Municipal hospital was held in the hospital September 2nd attended by 18 ladies.

During the business session of the meeting the matter of the $500 scholarship sponsored by the Auxiliary for the girl in the Pass attaining the highest marks in grade twelve and who is planning on making nursing her career was discussed and seven applications for the scholarship were reviewed. After careful consideration the Auxiliary decided to award the scholarship to Miss Sharon Kilgannon of Coleman who attained the highest marks for this award. Presentation will be made to Miss Kilgannon later this month at an affair to be held in the Coleman school. Miss Kilgannon will enroll in St. Michael's school of Nursing in Lethbridge this fall.

It was reported at the meeting that the Auxiliary have so far this year enjoyed a successful term but new members would be heartily welcome from all of the Crows Nest Pass towns. Transportation to the regular and to the sewing meetings is provided for members.

Blood Clinic Is Successful

Due to a truck breakdown near Chasleburn on September 1st, the staff of the blood donor Clinic reported that the Clinic collected 140 pints of blood in the short space their curtailed time allowed. The Clinic was held in the Elks Hall at Coleman and with the truck arriving here almost two hours late a good number of the donors had to be turned away. The Coleman Clinic was organized by Mrs. Joan Dunford of Coleman. The Spring Clinic will be held in Blairmore and will be organized by Mrs. Anna Fabro secretary of the Blairmore Branch of the Red Cross Society.

Atlas Lumber Mill To Start Soon

The Atlas Lumber Company planning mill and burner is nearing completion this week. Some test planning has been done and the equipment is working very satisfactorily.

Contracts for logging in the South Race Horse block are being let out and it is expected that operations will get underway very soon. The planer mill at Sentinel will be able to handle and plane some 80,000 to 100,000 board feet of lumber per shift when in full operation. It is anticipated that approximately 100 men will be employed for the two mills for both shifts when the plant begins operations. The rough mill in the Race Horse block is eleven miles north of the planer mill at Sentinel and rough planned lumber is hauled to the mill on a private road. Contracts for logging will be let this month for immediate commencement of operations. The company will also purchase any amount of rough lumber from small open outfalls in the district. Atlas will produce all types of lumber from fir, spruce and pine trees and will sell wholesale and retail.

It is estimated that approximately 15 men will be engaged at the planer mill at Sentinel while another 40 men will be employed at logging and in the mill in the Race Horse block area. The company expect to run two shifts especially in the spring time when the mill will operate full blast.

Location of Steel Plant Being Studied

The increasing demand in western Canada for steel pipe to transport gas and oil, and the demand for structural steel in an expanding economy is attracting considerable attention among big steel interests.

The Stewart and Lloyd group of London, England, and the Schneider group of France, are the principal steel concerns behind the present move.

Dr. Lawrence E. Kindt has been retained as the Economic Consultant to make a study to determine the most economic location for a steel plant in western Canada.

This study is to deal particularly with the costs of transporting raw materials — iron ore, coking coal, and limestone — and the transportation of the finished products.

Taxation and labor supply and other factors will also be considered. The proposed steel works will cost in the neighborhood of $200 million, and employ around 2500 people. Among the locations being considered are Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, Lethbridge, Port Macleod and Burnis.

Alex Kinnear Loses Two Fingers

Alex Kinnear, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kinnear of Coleman, is a patient in the Cardston hospital following an accident he sustained on August 8th.

Alex was working on a bridge for the Alberta Bridge Company at Del Bonita when he got his fingers crushed beneath a pile driver. It was necessary to amputate the tips off of two fingers on his left hand. Alex will be a patient in the Cardston hospital for another two weeks.

John Kinnear Accepts Employment At Calgary

John Kinnear of Coleman has this month accepted a position in the Engineering office of the Dominion Bridge Company of Calgary. "Johnny" as he is better known to all in the Pass has been foreman for the town of Coleman since January of 1955. Prior to taking over this work he had worked at the Coleman Collieries as an engineer for ten years. He has been in Coleman since 1925. Mrs. Kinnear and daughter will leave town in the near future to join Mr. Kinnear in Calgary.

Fire Brigade Called Twice

Coleman Fire Brigade were called out twice during the past week and fast action on the part of the department, prevented any serious damage in either case.

First fire was in the basement section of the W. D. Hurd home, when fire began around the furnace area. Fireman got this under control with no damage reported. The brigade was called out for this fire on Wednesday morning about 9 o'clock.

The second fire was a grass fire that started near the bluff in West Coleman around 1:15 p.m. Thursday. No damage was reported. Fire is believed to have started from a cigarette butt.

Coleman Elks Bingo Winners

Coleman Elks held their first bingo of the coming season Friday evening and although the $200 cash jackpot prize was not won in 55 numbers, Mrs. L. Davies of Elko, B. C., was awarded the $15 consolation prize. The next bingo night will be held in the Elks hall on Friday, September 18th when a $200 jackpot will be offered for the first blackout in 56 numbers.

Other prize winners at the last bingo were:

Other consolation winners were Mrs. Alf Phillips, Mrs. Gray and Mrs. E. Bwing of Coleman, Mrs. Wilkinson of Elko, B. C., and Mrs. J. Rivard of Blairmore.

Those things that come to the man who waits seldom turn out to be the thing he's waiting for.

Men who make big money are careful with their small change.

MONTREAL — Eastern and Western Canada will be less than five hours apart early next year when Trans-Canada Air Lines takes delivery of the first of six ordered 177-passenger, 500-hp-an-hour Douglas DC-8 jetliners. The aircraft will go into service on trans-continental and trans-Atlantic routes, cutting present flying times by more than one-third. The first of the Rolls-Royce-powered DC-8s, pictured here, flew at Long Beach, Calif., on July 28. Inset is a photograph of TCA's first passenger aircraft, a 10-passenger, 200-hp-an-hour Lockheed Electra, purchased in 1927 and used on trans-continental air service. The Electra was only 50 feet in length, while the DC-8 stretches 140 feet from nose to tail. The two are shown here in comparative size. The DC-8 devours more fuel in taxiing and take-off than the Electra was capable of carrying. (TCA PHOTO)

Of Many Things

(By Ambrose Hills)

Beating The Time Squeeze

I grab every new book. Few of them excite me.

Most of them are old ideas dressed up. Seldom do they contain anything startling or much that is useful. But I keep grabbing, because one idea or even the germ of an idea is worth a great deal of reading. Last night I read a book that really excited me. It has dozens of usable ideas. It deals with the strangest commodity in the world — time. It is called The Management of Time, written by James T. McCay, and published by Prentice-Hall, Inc., of Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey.

Managing time is a problem faced by everyone — farmer, doctor, business man, student. More and more of us feel we are caught in a time squeeze. We try to beat it by working still harder over longer periods of time, and to some extent succeed. But the real leader, according to McCay, has four qualities.

1—He has following.

2—His following is voluntary.

3—He demonstrates to people the best method of getting what they want.

4—He is the best man at managing time.

McCay puts the emphasis on the fourth point. He says that any man who aspires to leadership in his field these days simply must not be a spendthrift of time. He must "learn to guard it with resolution, to handle it with precision, and to invest it with acumen."

By doing this, he will find he has a wealth of time for leadership and development.

McCay acknowledges that the book is the result of his own adventure in self-management. And an exciting adventure it is.

One of a firm of psychologists, who attempt to help business leaders to solve problems, McCay made some interesting discoveries.

Men at the top are top men in countless ways, not only in brain power. They have spent a great deal of the time they salvage by managing time in self-improvement, and in the improvement and in inspiration of their associates.

McCay specializes in passing this kind of information along to those of us who do not have at our disposal a battery of psychologists. He tells us how to manage time, not so that we may loaf longer, but so we may, as individuals, improve ourselves and contribute more to the world we live in. And as a payoff for applying the principles he deals with, you may expect a release from the pressure of time.

Those who feel that their successes or failure depends on luck or rich uncles or pull will not care for this book at all. Those who know, instinctively, that in this world you get pretty much what you are worth, will welcome the book as a guide to increasing their worth.

Trouble is that those who need it most will be least likely to read it. They won't have time!

HOW TO IMPROVE

The other day my wife tossed a well known family magazine into the rack with a sigh of distaste.

"I'm getting sick and tired of nothing but self improvement articles. Look, is there a mania abroad or something? Does everybody want to know how to exercise, how to get thin, how to get fat; what to do till the doctor comes, and how to get rid of him when he's finished? Next thing you know they'd be publishing articles like 'A New Method of Steaming Envelopes Open in Your Pressure Cooker' or 'How to Remove Warts by Hypnotism', or 'Hints for Submarine Commanders on How to Organize a Polo Team'." It's ridiculous.

"Don't you want to improve?" I asked, heaping a little coal on the fire.

"Don't try to be smart," she said. "None of us is doing half as well as we know how right now. We don't need information — we need inspiration. I don't need hints on how to do the dishes; I need to get up and wash the darn dishes, that's all. I need to want to wash the dishes, if you know what I mean — You probably don't. You are lucky. You like banging at a typewriter!"

From years of experience at being a husband, I didn't protest that there are countless times when I would rather be at a pool table or a lakeshore than at my typewriter. And, of course, there is research to do. In every person's job, I suppose, there is some sort of equivalent to washing dishes. But my wife was dead right about the surplus supply of people telling other people how to do this, that, and the other thing.

Still, we all want to improve. Isn't there some specific way to do it, that could be told simply, once and for all? Wouldn't a general principle cover dish washing, writing, exercising and all the rest, so we could have done with this rash of how-to-improve articles? I don't know.

But my father had some general principles I think come close to the matter. He insisted that you couldn't afford to be careless at anything, even unimportant things. Do your best all the time was his motto. That forms the habit. You improve on yourself automatically then, at everything you do, even fishing, swimming or recreation.

I have often thought what a wonderful nation we could build here if all of us followed that one principle, and did our level best at all times. Lately it has seemed that we have reversed it, doing just enough to get by.

I thought about that a good deal while I was helping my wife with the dishes. Got so deep in thought I was startled when she said — "Look, if you are going to dry the dishes — dry them right! And stop dripping soapy water on the floor!"

Forty Years Of Service

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind last year celebrated its fortieth consecutive year of service to Canada's sightless citizens.

On March 30, 1918, the CNIB received its Federal Charter, and since that time it has been dedicated to improving the lives of our blind friends.

Before CNIB was organized in 1918, there was no place where a blind individual could turn for help. Most people who lost their sight had either to depend on their relatives to keep them, or go begging in the street. Today, however, — through the Institute — practically every blind person who is willing and capable of full time employment, is earning his own living.

Through its 46 offices across Canada today, the CNIB carries out a complete rehabilitation program for all ages. Trained workers, many of whom are sightless, assist the newly blinded and their families in adjustment to their new situation.

Encouragement and advice are given to the parents of blind youngsters, and a close liaison is maintained with the Department of Education to ensure that all blind children have the opportunity to attend school. Other CNIB services include Home Teaching of Braille, Typing and Handicrafts, Library Service of Braille and recorded books; games and appliances marked in Braille, as well as many concessions, such as reduced travel rates, etc.

The CNIB has also been instrumental in getting better legislation for the blind of Canada. Today any blind person 18 years or over, who is unable to earn his own living, is eligible to receive Blind Person's Allowance, at the rate of $55.00 per month, and in the province of Alberta, a Supplementary Allowance of $15.00 per month is also granted to all those who are eligible.

Twenty-three residences for senior sightless citizens have also been established throughout Canada by the Institute. In Alberta, CNIB has two residences, one in Edmonton, and one in Calgary, with accommodation for 60. Plans are being made for expansion. These services have all been designed to give the blind people of our country the opportunity to lead a happier, fuller and, the CNIB hopes, better life.

No organization can carry on a complete program such as this without the whole-hearted support of the entire community. You can have your part by supporting generously the annual appeal of the CNIB which opens October 1, 1959.

Pincher Creek Bride Honored at Shower

A miscellaneous shower was held in the Elks hall, Coleman, Thursday, September 10th, in honor of Mrs. Jacob Martens (nee Patricia Nelson). The guest of honor was escorted to her seat of honor to the strains of "The Wedding March" played by Mrs. S. Penney.

She was then presented with a corsage of pink and white carnations. Her mother, Mrs. J. Nelson, was seated on her right.

Mrs. J. Spievak and Mrs. Graham Atkinson were in charge of the guest book. Whist and bingo were the entertainment features of the evening.

Whist honors went as follows — 1st, Mrs. K. Raymond; 2nd, Mrs. Alma Krish; and Mrs. S. DeMartin, consolation.

Door prize was won by Mrs. Martens (the bride).

A delicious lunch was then served by the hostesses, after which the honored guest was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts including a tri-lite lamp, a Dutch oven, an ironing board and cover, a standing ash tray, a wall can opener. The gift from the hostess was steam iron.

Mrs. Martens very ably thanked

Need For Immunization Is Greater Than Ever

The recent polio scare in Montreal emphasizes the fact that the need for immunization against such communicable diseases as poliomyelitis, smallpox, diphtheria, and whooping-cough is just as vital as ever," said Dr. P. O. Wishart, Chairman of the Immunization Committee of the Health League of Canada, in announcing the dates for the coming Immunization Week.

Immunization Week, which is sponsored by the Health League of Canada, will take place all across the country, with the co-operation of departments of health and education from September 20 to 26. Dr. Wishart pointed out that poliomyelitis, in particular, had moved from being a disease of children, into the adult area. "It is earnestly hoped that those aged 20 and over will avail themselves of this protection, as the disease is more serious and severe in older age groups, and particularly in pregnant mothers," he said.

He also mentioned the quadruple vaccine, which combines immunizing agents, protecting against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough. Immunization against these diseases is achieved by the single course of injections.

"Just because such diseases as smallpox and diphtheria have become so rare is no reason to neglect immunization. Two years ago, in a large city in Western Canada, there was an outbreak of diphtheria totaling 69 cases and 6 deaths. In the same year there were 166 cases and numerous deaths in a large U. S. border city. Such deaths are doubly tragic today when there is a safe effective preventive available," he said.

Dr. Wishart concluded by urging all Canadians to see that they and their families protect themselves through immunization, not only during Immunization Week, but throughout the year.

What Makes Babies Cry? - Here Are Some Answers

"Nothing seems to shatter the peace and tranquility of the home more than the infant who cries," says Dr. Robert Johnson, of the Hospital For Sick Children, Toronto, in writing in the current issue of Health Magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

He says that parents suffer from too much and varying advice, and that the whole problem boils down to the simple fact that most parents do not know when they have done all they can for their infant.

Dr. Johnson points out that infants have only eight needs which can be satisfied through the medium of another human being. — Here is his working list:

- 1—Protection from injury.
- 2—Shelter.
- 3—Clothing.
- 4—Physical comfort (wet or soiled).
- 5—Security.
- 6—Thirst.
- 7—Hunger.
- 8—Companionship.

In our society, the first three are the responsibility of the parents or persons in charge of the child, says Dr. Johnson, and they are nearly always provided in any home.

There remain five things a parent can offer the crying child:

- 1—Physical comfort — if the infant is wet or soiled, change him.

2—Security — pick him up and cuddle him two minutes.

3—Thirst—offer him a drink of water.

4—Hunger — offer the infant a feeding.

5—Companionship — play with him if he so desires.

When the parent has tried all of these things, it is time for him or her to sit back and say "I have done what I can for you as a fellow human being. If your troubles are beyond this, I cannot help you, and must decide whether to let you settle your problems yourself or call someone more skilled to ascertain if you are ill."

Dr. Johnson emphasizes that the child should be attended to promptly and after the parent has fulfilled the basic five steps in caring for the infant, and when the infant left alone fails to settle, then expert advice from the family physician should be sought.

With this method of constant repetition of an adequate but understood routine, the parent and child can come to a mutual understanding as to what results when the child cries, and how much the child can expect and receive from the parent when he does cry, concludes Dr. Johnson.
